

What is CAMP Rehoboth and the Community Center?

CAMP Rehoboth is a non-profit, gay and lesbian community service organization, originally developed to "Create A More Positive" relationship among all the people of the Rehoboth Beach area. Over the last 18 years it has grown into a full service community center with a multitude of activities, events, and programs.

From our highly visible magazine, Letters from CAMP Rehoboth, to the fundraising and partnering it does for other non-profit organizations; CAMP Rehoboth and its Community Center have become a vital part of downtown Rehoboth Beach. While the focus of CAMP Rehoboth continues to be the gay and lesbian community and its relationship to the greater community around it, CAMP Rehoboth has also maintained and strengthened a long tradition of working with both gay and straight area organizations.

Services provided by CAMP Rehoboth include:

- Community Space, Meeting Rooms, Public Courtyard
- Sensitivity Training for City and Park Police
- Sexual Health Counseling (couples & individuals)
- Health Testing (partnership/Beebe Medical Center)
- HIV Prevention, Education and Testing
- Support Groups
- Safe Haven for Youth
- Grief Counseling
- Public Access Computer
- Public WiFi
- Information Resources on Area Services
- Tourist Information Services
- Gallery and Performance Space for Artists
- Partnering with Other Area Non-profits
- Ticket Sales for Other Organizations
- Women's Conference and Weekend
- Promotion for Local Non-profit Events

With the completion of its new wing, the CAMP Rehoboth Community Center is now able to offer five rooms for public usage: a large multipurpose room, two conference rooms, the gallery/meeting space, and the library. The Center provides conference, workshop, and retreat space, as well as information about a multitude of services, activities, and events relevant to the GLBT population of the mid-Atlantic region.
